ABOUT US

Digital disruption and change are catalysts for significant process improvement. Our passion for process improvement and the people behind the processes resulted in us creating new products to automate critical agency business lines. Underpinned by artificial intelligence, our smart automation continues to advance.

Our technology company has one goal – empower every organization to be more responsive to the emergent societal pressures constantly at work around us. We are committed to doing our part to provide the technology needed to redefine and improve the way you work.

We are part of the small business movement working to improve government. Through technology development, we are leading federal agencies through digital transformations. Our efforts are designed to keep business operations going.

HOW WE WORK

In the cloud or your data center, we will set-up your digital platform. Our digital services are all you pay for – no per user licensing fees. The platform is your agency asset, establishing a new digital legacy. The digital platform was first built for CMS and now offered Government-wide.
